100% of the artisans were content with their working conditions, income and environment.

Who made your clothes?

Benta Awuor, 39 years old

"I am a mother of nine children. I participated on the Vivienne Westwood spring-summer 2018 order as a brass caster working at the furnace. I was happy to work on the order at the time when there was little work for artisans following the disputed presidential election. The income from the order assisted me to feed my family".

Alice Okeyo, 43 years old

"I am a mother of four. I worked on Vivienne Westwood's spring-summer 2018 order as a preparer. I enjoyed working on the order with the up-cycled materials such as coffee sack and dhow sail materials. I used my income to pay rent, buy food and saved some to use during Christmas festivities".

Isiah Saindamo, 23 years old

"I am a father of one. The Vivienne Westwood spring-summer 2018 order gave me the opportunity to feed and to care for my young family. The order came when my wife had just given birth. I used some of the income to meet maternity bills."

Naserian Eunice, 25 years old

"I am a mother of three. I worked on the Vivienne Westwood spring-summer 2018 order as a beader. Beading the panel was very challenging. I received on-the-job training which greatly improved my beading skills".

The Ethical Fashion Initiative (EFI) is a flagship programme of the International Trade Centre, a joint agency of the United Nations and the World Trade Organization. EFI reduces global poverty by linking micro-producers and artisans to the international supply chain of fashion, facilitating dignified work at a fair wage. By collaborating with social enterprises, the EFI supports local creativity, female employment and empowerment and gender equality. Ultimately, this aims to reduce extreme poverty and increase the export capacities of the region in which it operates.

R.I.S.E.

This order was monitored using the RISE framework: An innovative system from the ITC’s Ethical Fashion Initiative to enable compliance with labour and environmental regulations, traceability for all processes, and a clear measurement of the impact of work on those involved in the value chain.

ARTISAN FASHION is a social enterprise that was established in 2007 to connect Africa’s artisans to esteemed luxury brands all over the world. They are the first African production company to successfully combine artisan creativity and production capability with a careful consideration for traceable social impact. Acting both as a production hub and a disseminator of work, they employ Kenyan artisans in their hub and collaborate with 28 artisan communities across Kenya to produce hand crafted bags and accessories made with traditional skills.
